3 EDITOR'S LETTER

6 AIR CORRESPONDENCE

10 DECLINE & FALL

Professor Keith Hayward FRAeS continues his series on the political aspects of Britain's post-war aircraft industry with a look at the demise of the once-mighty Handley Page

18 AIRACOBRA: HERO OF THE SOVIET UNION

The British dismissed it; the Americans tolerated it; the Soviets, however, loved it. Dan Zamansky explains how the Bell P-39 found a new lease of life on the Eastern Front

30 IRAN'S WEASEL DIESELS

Iranian aviation historian Babak Taghvaei chronicles the long career of the F-4D "Diesel" Phantom in Iran, several of which were converted into anti-SAM "Wild Weasels"

40 CES HOMMES MAGNIFIQUES: A.P. FILIPPI

In the first of a new series on France's early aeronautical personalities, Jean-Christophe Carbonel explores the work of Antoine Filippi, inventor of the "Cyrnos" rotary wing

50 OK-JET! THE Tu-104A IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Miroslav Jindra traces the history of the Tupolev Tu-104A jetliner in service with Czechoslovakia's national airline ČSA

62 FROM FLYING TO SPYING: PART 1

By the late 1930s Japan was increasingly showing interest in Portuguese Timor, only 400 miles north-west of Darwin; Phil Vabre reveals how Australia's DCA kept a watchful eye

74 NATTJAKT!

In 1953 the de Havilland Venom entered service with Sweden's Flygvapnet; Jan Forsgren profiles the career of the J 33, as it was designated in Swedish service . . .

81 WHISTLING IN THE DARK

. . . followed by former Flygvapnet J 33 pilot Bengt "Kävlinge" Lindwall's recollections of what the distinctive twin-boomed nightfighter was like to fly

84 THE USAAF'S MEDITERRANEAN FERRETS

Electronic countermeasures specialist Bill Cahill details the 16th RS's use of Boeing B-17s as German-radar-hunting "Ferrets" in the Mediterranean during WW2

96 REFLECTIONS ON A TRAGEDY

When we misidentified a Fleet Air Arm pilot recently, his son, Peter Lavender, got in touch to tell us the story of his father's post-war flying career — and tragic untimely death

100 SPIRIT OF AUSTRALIA

Australian civil aviation historian Neil Follett surveys the (mainly short) lives of the four handsome Ryan B.1 Broughams imported into Australia during the late 1920s

108 STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

With the help of contemporary brochures and data, Tony Buttler describes Armstrong Whitworth's AW.58 series of supersonic research designs, ultimately beaten to the hardware stage by English Electric's P.1 and Fairey's F.D.2

116 ARMCHAIR AVIATION

121 LOST & FOUND

122 SAY CHEESE! PART 2

Ed Wild FRAeS concludes his two-part series on flying overseas for Hunting Surveys Ltd with another DC-3 expedition; this time a trip to Africa during 1959–60

130 OFF THE BEATEN TRACK
